ABOUT THE SYMPOSIUM

Background and Rationale

Education is universally acknowledged as a powerful instrument for social transformation, equity, and sustainable development. The global commitment to the principle of “No One Left Behind,” embedded in the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, emphasizes inclusive and equitable quality education for all (SDG 4). Despite significant policy interventions in India—such as the Right to Education Act (2009), National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, and various scholarship and affirmative action measures—large sections of society continue to face exclusion from meaningful educational opportunities.

Marginalized groups, including Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, Denotified and Nomadic Tribes, minorities, persons with disabilities, first-generation learners, rural and migrant populations, and economically weaker sections, often encounter structural, socio-cultural, linguistic, digital, and institutional barriers. These challenges are further intensified by regional disparities, digital divides, and post-pandemic learning losses. Consequently, access alone is insufficient; what is required is a rethinking of education systems, pedagogies, policies, and institutional practices through the lens of social inclusion.

In this context, the proposed National Symposium seeks to create an interdisciplinary academic platform to critically engage with the idea of inclusive education, examine gaps between policy and practice, and explore innovative, community-oriented, and rights-based approaches to ensure that education truly leaves no one behind.

OBJECTIVES OF THE SYMPOSIUM

1. The National Symposium aims to:
2. Critically analyze the concept of social inclusion in education in the Indian and global context.
3. Examine structural and institutional barriers affecting equitable access and outcomes in education.
4. Review the impact of educational policies such as NEP 2020 and their implications for marginalized communities.
5. Explore innovative pedagogical practices, digital tools, and community-based models that promote inclusive learning.
6. Encourage interdisciplinary research and dialogue on education, social justice, and sustainable development.
7. Provide a platform for academicians, researchers, policymakers, practitioners, and students to share experiences and best practices.
